About the Senior Life Transitions Program

The Life Transitions Program is a coaching and navigation service for seniors. It is intended to support and assist seriously ill seniors with the issues related to changes in their life. This includes adjusting to the changing circumstances, meeting needs for services, navigating the health care and social services system, and planning how to age-in place effectively for the future.

What Can You Expect?

1. You will receive a telephone screening call to best learn of your needs and specific details.

2. We will schedule a consultation visit at the Senior Center or at your home. This will help us both understand what the program may be able to offer you. It will be an assessment and a first draft of what we can offer.

3. We will then finalize a working plan with you, including a timeframe addressing your needs, supporting you personally, and planning for the future.

Suggested donations received for the Senior Life Transitions Program are used to cover the costs of providing services to all in need. Donations are encouraged to support our continued ability to make important programs and services available to seniors in our community, particularly the most vulnerable.

What is a Transition?

We view a “transition” as a significant change, or major shift in living that may have been previously unforeseen. Frequently, receiving the diagnosis of a potentially life-threatening illness ignites a transition in one’s life. This is particularly true for seniors that may be facing many other life changes due to normal aging, such as existing chronic conditions, various stages of disability, social isolation, or abrupt changes in housing or food security.
